Expertise

Sandro Abegglen (Swiss citizen, member of the Swiss bar, born 1967) advises Swiss and international banks, broker-dealers, asset managers, fund providers, investment foundations, (re)insurers and institutional investors in complex civil and regulatory matters, transactions and proceedings.

Mr. Abegglen represents banks, broker-dealers, investment funds, investment foundations, asset managers and (re)insurers in obtaining regulatory licenses and approvals. He assists in establishing investment structures and asset and wealth management services and products. He advises on issues of institutional governance, regulatory compliance, KYC/AML issues, point of sale and market conduct laws and stock exchange disclosure rules. Transactional work includes advising international banks, insurers and hedge fund managers establishing presence in or relocating to Switzerland and generally financial institutions M&A.

Sandro renders opinions on critical regulatory and contract law topics in relation to banking, asset / wealth management services, investment funds, and KYC/AML topics. He also advises self-regulatory bodies of the Swiss banking and funds and asset management industry.

An important part of Sandro Abegglen's practice includes the representation of large banks, asset managers, securities dealers and insurers and their management in regulatory enforcement proceedings of FINMA, the Swiss Financial Market Supervisory Authority, and the conduct of internal investigations for major banks. Sandro, in cooperation with litigation team members, further represents banks and insurers in complex, often international litigations, in particular pertaining to bank-client disputes in the area of wealth management and institutional asset management with regulatory and AML/KYC issues being involved.

Mr. Abegglen is a Vice-Chairman of a leading Swiss investment fund manager of major international asset management group. He also is a Legal and Compliance Committee member of the Swiss Funds & Asset Management Association SFAMA, the self-regulatory body of the Swiss fund/asset management industry.

Sandro is author of two books, numerous law journal articles and commentary contributions. He is often invited to speak at conferences organized, among others, by the Universities of St Gallen and Zurich.

In 2012, the Swiss Finance Department appointed Sandro as external expert to advise on the design of a new Swiss Financial Services Act.
