Expertise

Lukas Beeler specializes in domestic and international litigation and arbitration proceedings. He also represents clients in administrative litigation, in particular before regulatory authorities and courts. He is particularly versed in contract, corporate, banking and security disputes and has extensive experience in international and cross-border matters.

Besides his dispute resolution practice, Lukas Beeler regularly advises clients on various contractual matters, in particular in connection with sale and purchase, agency, manufacturing and distribution agreements, as well as on corporate and compliance matters.

Lukas has worked for a U.S. litigation law firm as a foreign associate in Washington, D.C., where he was particularly involved in international white collar civil and criminal litigation.

Lukas Beeler received an LL.M. from Harvard Law School (2015) and a Ph.D. from University of Zurich (2013).

Lukas Beeler has authored an award winning Ph.D. thesis in the field of securities law (Issekutz Award and Prof. Walther Hug Award). He has also published articles in the areas of contract, commercial and banking law. Lukas Beeler has been listed as "Next Generation Partner" by Legal 500, "Leading Individual" by Who's Who Legal Litigation – Future Leaders Partners, as well as by Best Lawyers and Chambers.
